Other Key Product Features:

When retro-reflective panels are moving, they are more likely to be seen. For example, when joggers run in shoes with this material, you will notice their visibility increases. Workers, in dark or low light conditions, benefit from this technology.

A worker's head is always in motion during their day to day activities. These movements greatly increase the 'flash' on the retro-reflective panels along the frame of the Reflect-Specs, which drastically improves on site worker visibility and safety.
